Coat and Gunny Sack

By United Press Leased Wire
Portage, Wis.—The charred body of an unidentified man, with a bullet wound over the right eye, was discovered early Friday in a burning haystack in a lonely marsh three miles south of here.

An inquest being held Friday afternoon is expected to establish definitely that the man was murdered.

The body was wrapped in a gunny sack and a sheep skin coat. The man had been dead only a few hours, according to the physician who discovered the body. The man was about 30 years old and weighed about 150 pounds.

Fresh tire marks in the snow indicated that motor car from the south—the direction of Madison—had drawn up to the stack.

Sheriff Dempsey of Columbia county declared he believed the murder had been committed during the night and the body rushed to the haystack which was set fire to hide the crime.

CABINET CHANGE WILL NOT ALTER FRENCH POLICY

Conference Agrees on Minor Changes in Naval Treaty —Japs Open Port

By United Press Leased Wire
Washington—A definite indication that the policy of France, at the armistice conference will be continued, despite the resignation of the French cabinet, was seen here Friday when the French delegation officially announced that President Millerand and former Premier Briand of France had asked M. Sarraut to remain here as the chief representative of his country.

Meanwhile, the big five delegates, in framing the naval treaty, have decided to let America convert two ships, which were to be scrapped, into airplane carriers and to permit other nations to build two ships each for similar purposes.

Japan has dropped her request for keeping a ship for target practice; Britain is asking retention of two for training ship purposes and Italy and France for gunnery practice.

The fortification clause as now framed, calls for maintaining the existing status of fortifications and naval bases in the northern Pacific. Exclusion of the southern Pacific was made because of Australian and New Zealand fortifications.

The talk now is that the plenary session will "probably be held the middle of next week."

The Shantung conference agreed Friday upon opening up to foreigners the port of Tsing-Tao and the territory of Kiaochow.

DEMOCRATS WILL CARRY NEWBERRY ISSUE TO VOTERS

LaFollette is One of Nine Re- publicans Voting Against Seating Senator

Washington—Senator Truman H. Newberry, Michigan, given his seat in the senate by a vote of 46 to 41 Friday declared he would not now resign. Reports have been current that the senator would retire if vindicated by the senate of charges of personal knowledge of the excessive use of money in his campaign against Henry Ford.

The Newberry case Friday is a political campaign issue.

Recognition will be carried into the senatorial primaries and the general elections in every state which nominates and elects a senator this year. The Democrats count on the Newberry case to win them control of the senate.

So far as the senate record is concerned, the charges—concerning the excessive use of money in political campaigns, the resolution seating Newberry declared that the use of as much money as Newberry's friends spent in his behalf was against public policy and threatened the perpetuity of the republic. Then they went ahead and seated him.

"My heart is filled with thankfulness that the three years and four months of persecution have ended in complete vindication and exoneration of myself and all concerned," said Newberry when he learned of the vote.

The "uncertain" group of Republicans decided the issue. McNary, Oregon, who it is said was "dubbed" into voting for Newberry by administration threats to block his reclamation bill. Poindexter, Washington, Willis, Ohio, Cummins, Iowa, Kellogg, Minnesota—these provided the vote to seat Newberry.

Nine Republicans—Borah, Capper, Ladd, LaFollette, Norris, Norbeck, Kenyon, Jones, Washington, and Sutherland voted against Newberry.

Washington—A new path for American trade has been opened by the Irish settlement.

"In return for these she can offer the merchants of the United States rich linen, laces, cattle and dairy products."

"A direct steamship line from New York to Cork and Queenstown has been established to facilitate trade in the expected rush. The River Lagan shipyards in Ireland are said to be turning out new ships which can be used in an American business."

Made His Wife Take Poison; Is Arrested

By United Press Leased Wire
Paris—Thomas S. Ryan, a newspaperman, has been arrested here charged with attempting to murder his wife, formerly Miss Audrey Creighton of California, by forcing her to swallow bichloride of mercury tablets on a threat he otherwise would kill himself.

Mrs. Ryan was at first reported to be dying in the American hospital with but "one chance in a million," but later to be "resting easier." Ryan declared to the police that his wife attempted to commit suicide.

According to Mrs. Creighton, mother of Audrey, the Ryans were married in California in 1917, where her daughter was celebrated as a violinist, a Fontainebleau conservatory prize winner. Because of Ryan's threats of murder and suicide at that time Mrs. Creighton declares, the marriage never was consummated. Mrs. Creighton attempted to have it nullified, but the courts refused, as Audrey was of legal age.

She and her daughter went to Paris after the war, while Ryan had been heard from in India. He returned last Monday and visited his wife here. On Wednesday he promised to secure her a divorce. On Thursday morning, Ryan aroused the household by crying to the servant, "Madame has swallowed poison."

FORD READY TO PAY MILLIONS FOR U. S. PLANT

Automobile Manufacturer Will Fight to Defeat All New- berry Supporters

Washington—Henry Ford, the government's biggest prospective customer in war salvage, was here Friday to receive the administration's final word on his bid for the great Muscle Shoals nitrate project.

Soon after Friday's conference of the automobile manufacturer and Secretary of War Weeks, the war department will announce its acceptance of the Ford bid. By sending it to congress, which will be called upon to make the appropriations necessary to complete the project.

Ford's arrival here on "the morning after" the senate seated Senator Newberry, his opponent in the 1918 senatorial campaign and whom he charged with excessive use of money to win the election, caused a stir in official circles.

Already Ford has stated he proposed to fight in many states for the defeat of all those senators who Thursday voted to seat Newberry. The automobile manufacturer may take occasion during his stay here to "blast out" against the Newberry supporters, but his close friends are counseling against such a move, believing it might delay congressional action on the appropriation necessary to make his offer for the Muscle Shoals plant effective.

Ford was to meet Secretary of War Weeks at 3 o'clock Friday afternoon. All details of the offer which calls for the eventual payment by Ford of $150,000,000 to the government are said by those in close touch with the negotiations to have been settled and Friday's meeting is in the nature of a formal and personal confirmation of the agreement by Ford and Weeks.

Moratorium Ceases When Ger- many Submits More Len- ient Plan to Pay War Debt

By United Press Leased Wire
Cannes, France—A provisional moratorium for Germany was decided upon by the reparations committee of the supreme council before its adjournment. It was announced Friday. Germany will not have to pay the 500,000,000 to 700,000,000 gold marks originally demanded on Jan. 15, but must present a new plan for payment. Guarantees of financial reform must also be given by the Germans.

While the provisional moratorium is in effect, pending a new arrangement for payments, the Germans must pay thirty one million gold marks each ten days. This is designed to speed up the Germans' arriving at a new plan for payments.

ONLY TEMPORARY

The provisional moratorium for Germany was to ease when the allies and Germany agree as to the new form payments shall take. The ten day payments required represent 25 percent of Germany's exports, it was said here.

The date of the international economic conference at Genoa has been fixed for March 8.

Meanwhile, the supreme council, which adjourned Thursday since die, was breaking up. The French delegation left early Friday. The Germans were to go Friday afternoon, and the Italians Friday night.

The British delegation Friday issued copies of a draft of the proposed Anglo-French treaty. Walks To Washington To Ask Harding To Pardon Her Son, 'Star' Newsboy

Dayton, Ohio—Mrs. Margaret Anderson, 60, of Sioux City, Iowa, left here Friday on her way to Washington to ask President Harding to pardon a former newsboy on his Marion paper—her son.

"We used to live in Marion and I knew Florence Harding when she was employed in the business office of the Marion Star," Mrs. Anderson said after she had arrived here from Sioux City. "I know that if I can only see her I will get to lay the whole matter before the president and that he will intervene for Joe used to carry the Star."

Wearily from her two weeks' journey, Mrs. Anderson set out Friday morning with a prayer that she would not be too late to remove the stigma of "desertion" from her son.

reported slowly dying at Fort Leavenworth, men from being gassed in the Argonne. Another son, Don, was killed in action in the Argonne fighting.

Joe's "desertion" was the result of an unbalanced mind caused by the war, Mrs. Anderson believes. He enlisted with a prayer that he would be sent to the front because of ill health, he started home, became confused and reached a military hospital in Denver which he "deserted" and went to Fort Russell and enlisted under another name, the mother says.

When the president hears my story and checks up the record, I am sure justice will be done," she declared as she started another lap of her walk.

"U" CLUB TO OUST SOCIALIST GROUP WOULD MAKE JUNK OUT OF ALL NAVIES

Stormy Session of International Club of University Promised Tonight

Ford Gives Curt Reply to French Request to Buy Ob- solete Ships

Madison—Socialist members of the International club, composed of University of Wisconsin students from foreign countries, will be ousted at a meeting at the university Y. M. C. A. Friday night.

Johannes Dewet, Baer from South Africa and "Don" Smith, who made the announcement of the meeting Friday, declared that members of the International club who are also members of the Social Science club, a liberal organization on the campus, has been "bolshieviking." Dewet is president of the International club.

The break in the club came last week when the Socialist members insisted that several members of the club proposed that President E. A. Birge of the university, and several other faculty members, be elected to honorary membership.

The insurgents denounced this as an attempt at social climbing and circulated petitions against the proposal. One university professor and his wife were reported to have threatened to quit if the "higher ups" were elected.

The meeting Friday night will see the first break of the non-Socialists, Dewet promised. "There will be fireworks," he said.

The Socialists are in the minority in membership in the club.

FEAR FRENCH SHAKUP

Berlin—Members of the German government, and political and financial circles here, take a gloomy view of the situation created by the resignation of Aristide Briand and the prospect of a succession to the French premiership of Raymond Poincare.

The change, as Germany sees it, is from a moderate ministry to a group of German hawks.

There is, however, a general undercurrent of confidence in Lloyd George and the like in the West. The British stabilize the European situation. There is also a little passive defiance of France.

"Let them have Poincare—he won't be able to extract one mark more from Germany than anyone else," a cabinet minister said.

Leib, president of the reichstag, in an interview with the United Press, expressed great regret at the signs of allied discord which he said were harmful to Germany. It was Germany's hope that accord would be regained, Leib said.

Double Evil Omen Stalks Folks Today

If a couple black cats crossed your path today and you broke a mirror and you crossed between a hearse and the following vehicles and you sat down at a table where there were 13 and you opened an umbrella over your head in the house, you are doubly doomed. Why? Because this is the ill omened Friday, the Thirteenth, upon which people are supposed to have a great deal of ill luck and incidentally bad temper.

Many optimistic people who declare that they are not superstitious leave their thinking a little bit about the day and the date, nevertheless. Others say that Friday, the thirteenth, bringing two bad omens at the same time is a day of extremely good fortune for them. It is convenient, however, to blame everything which goes wrong on the day.

Hungarian Partridge Is Well Adapted For Wisconsin, Catlin Says

Game Bird, Imported From Europe, Bids Fair to Supply Badger Hunters With Plenty of Sport for Many Years — Plentiful in Waukesha

By Mark S. Catlin

As the march of civilization goes onward, reducing more and more of our wild lands to a state of cultivation, just so much are the haunts of our wild animals and wild game birds reduced until over large areas of our state, our native game birds have reached a point of almost total extinction, and for those of us who occasionally like to go afield with dog and gun, it is necessary to find some game bird whose habit of life is such that we can repopulate those districts where native birds have disappeared, in order that future generations may enjoy some of the privileges which are of the present and the past, have enjoyed.

I had heard from various sources of a bird which had been liberated in Waukesha county, and from the meagre reports that I had of said bird, I concluded to carry on a little investigation of my own with respect to it, and having received an invitation to go to the home of Attorney James T. Drought of Milwaukee, who was at that time living in his summer home at Oconomowoc, I gladly accepted the same, and went to Oconomowoc, Sept. 6, 1921. The next morning, being the opening of the season for Hungarian partridge, we left at daylight to be joined by Judge Newton Evans and several of his friends, for a day's sport.

HOW THEY STARTED

Before I go any further, I will say that I was informed that the introduction of the Hungarian partridge is the work of Colonel Gustave Pabst, who has some farms near the city of Oconomowoc, and that he brought in several varieties of pheasants and quails, and that the Hungarian partridge adapted itself so well to the conditions of Waukesha county, and propagated so rapidly that they were liberated by Colonel Pabst, and from that liberation, which has been for but a very few years, they have spread out to the surrounding counties so that the last legislature of Wisconsin felt that they could have a short open season for Jefferson and Waukesha counties, without material injury to the birds.

We started hunting too early in the morning, we were a little too ambitious. There was a very heavy dew, and the birds did not move much until the dew was off the grass. There were three dogs in the party, one being owned by Judge Evans, and while I do not like to make remarks about one of my hosts' dogs, I will say that that dog should have had a halter on.

These birds were found in this community in practically every field where there was either wheat, rye, barley, or oat stubble, and in some of the fields there were as many as two or three coveys. The coveys in size ranged from eight or nine up to twenty-five, and all the birds seemed to be mature. From the amount of shooting that we heard, there must have been a large number of hunters out after them, but there were a large lot of birds there, and every one found the hunting excellent. The birds sat well for the dogs, and did not show a tendency to become wild until they had been flushed two or three times, but the bird itself we found to be simply able to care for itself, and to make its getaway even under the guns of experienced hunters.

REMAINS IN OPEN

The habits of this bird is the thing that will make it extremely valuable.

and of that number we killed approximately twenty-five. Another thing with respect to the bird is that the coveys are so large, and the male looks after its young well that even if the birds are shot down very closely each year, only a small amount of breeding stock is necessary to make them very plentiful the following year.

SOME BIRDS FIGHT

There has been one great objection to the introduction of foreign birds where any of our native birds yet remain, and that is, that the various pheasants, which without doubt, will do well in this country, have such a tendency to fight all other birds that they drive them out of the country. I do not believe, personally, that any bird of that character should be introduced within this state, where it has a tendency to fight any of our native song and game birds, but the Hungarian partridge has no tendency whatever to fight with the rest of our feathered friends, and lives in peace and harmony with its neighbors, so that from that standpoint the recommendation of this bird is of the highest.

This bird, in size, is about midway between the Bob White and our native partridge. In its coloring, it has a slate colored body, but on the neck and in flight when it is flying away, from you and shows a red brown tail. In flight toward you there is a red brown heart shaped marking upon its breast, which gives it a wonderful appearance. The head has a lighter coloring than the rest of the body, and the feathers on the back have a fine black pencilled line in its gray make up, and there is enough of red brown in the bird to make it blend almost to being invisible in an ordinary stubble field. There is a slight red marking over the eye of the male bird. Otherwise, I could distinguish no separate coloring between the male and female bird, and there seemed to be a uniformity of size between both the male and female.

As to its eating qualities, I do not believe that it could be told from our native partridge as to flavor. The meat, however, is not quite as white as our partridge and with that exception, is the only variance which I could detect from our native bird.

In writing this little sketch of this wonderful bird, I have done so only with the idea of giving the general public an idea of the possibilities of propagating this bird over large areas of this state, to which it will readily adapt itself. The possibilities of restocking large areas of our state are limited only to the amount of time and energy that interested people will give to work of this kind. The sportsmen of this state are paying sufficient money into the state in my judgment to warrant the state in establishing in some suitable location, a game farm, similar to those established in many other states in this Union, for the purpose of propagating birds of this kind, and I hope to see the time in Wisconsin, when we, too, shall have a place where birds and animals that have proved their worth and adaptation to our climate and conditions, can be propagated for the benefit of all of our people.

Don't Spoil Your Hair By Washing It

When you wash your hair, be careful what you use. Most soaps and shampoos contain too much alkali, which is very injurious, as it dries the scalp and makes the hair brittle. The best thing to use is Mulsified coconut oil shampoo, for this is pure and entirely greaseless. It's very cheap and beats anything else all to pieces. You can get Mulsified at any drug store, and few ounces will last the whole family for months. Simply moisten the hair with water and rub it in, about a teaspoonful of Mulsified is all that is required. It makes an abundance of rich, creamy lather, cleanses thoroughly, and rinses out easily. The hair dries quickly and evenly, and is soft, fresh looking, bright, fluffy, wavy and easy to handle. Besides, it loosens and takes out every particle of dust, dirt and dandruff. Be sure your druggist gives you Mulsified.

Janesville Mayor Gives Tips To Officials Here

Mayor T. E. Welch of Janesville, while in Appleton Thursday, called at Mayor J. A. Hawes' office while the board of public works was in session and his visit proved a most profitable one for the local officials.

Mayor Welch was at the head of the city government at the time the General Motors Co. made an investment of several millions of dollars in Janesville which turned things topsy turvy for a time. The building of an immense manufacturing plant made it necessary for the city to take in additional territory, open new streets and construct several miles of sewer and water mains for the accommodation of the hundreds of employees who built new homes. "The work had to be done in the shortest time possible," said Mayor Welch, "and we were kept busy day and night for several months. Advantage was taken of every means possible to shorten the time required to do the work."

The mayor was asked numerous questions by local officials who have under consideration the solution of several big municipal propositions, among them the viaduct, junior high schools and trunk line sewers. Mayor Welch said Janesville is at present building a $1,000,000 high school which will be completed by the opening of the next school year.

THE MODERN MOTHER

faces problems far beyond those of her forbears. She herself must be a much more competent person, combining in one individual the duties of nurse, cook, teacher and moral instructor. It is no wonder that many conscientious women break under the strain, and that others drag out a miserable existence; always tired and yet unable to take a day's vacation. Such women will find themselves benefited and their burdens made easier by the use of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, which was made for suffering women, and does not fail to relieve them.

FOX CLUB LOSES TO NEW LONDON

Strong Guarding of New London Gang Keeps Kaukauna Score Down

Kaukauna—Playing its best game of the season but unable to cope with the lucky shooting of a fine visiting team, the Fox club basketball team was defeated Thursday night at the auditorium by New London, 26 to 14.

Mulford's Clothing team was defeated by Troop 2 Appleton Boy Scouts in a great game by a score of 18 to 13. Both teams played a fine brand of basketball. The Fox club team was defeated by New London, 26 to 14. Mulford's Clothing team was defeated by Troop 2 Appleton Boy Scouts in a great game by a score of 18 to 13.

Both teams played a fine brand of basketball. The Fox club team was defeated by New London, 26 to 14. Mulford's Clothing team was defeated by Troop 2 Appleton Boy Scouts in a great game by a score of 18 to 13.

The teams were well matched in speed and teamwork but the club players excelled at accuracy in the shooting game. Brenzel had his shooting eyes working and although he played guard he made several spectacular shots. Schrader also rolled the ball in the net for a number of counters. The fact that the local team was unable to get within easy shooting distance of the basket accounts for the score.

The game began with a lot of action and very little scoring. The visitors tossed in the first marker and followed later with another basket. After a desperate struggle with the ball under the local's basket, Laudert broke the ice and a short while after Brenzel brought down the house with his shot. Laudert while running full speed, dribbling half the length of the floor through the visitor's defense.

The first period ended 8 to 6 in favor of the Fox club but in the last period the local five made only three baskets while the New London players were making ten.

WORLD FACES BRIGHT BUSINESS PROSPECT IN 1922

Steady Readjustment Is Outlook For Year, C. Of C. Forum Is Told

Price Will be Biggest Sale Argument for Next Few Months
H. C. Baldwin Declares in Interesting Address Before Big Audience.

Substantial improvement in most lines of business with steady readjustment of industries which have not yet reached their proper levels is the business outlook for 1922, according to H. C. Baldwin, representing the Babson Statistical organization, in his address before the chamber of commerce forum in Elk hall Thursday night. Mr. Baldwin predicted the most important recoveries will be made by industries manufacturing and handling necessities of life. He declared price adjustment will be the biggest sales argument for several months and "normalcy" will not be reached for two years and possibly not for five years.

The forum attracted the largest crowd of men and women that has attended any of the chamber of commerce educational meetings. This number of guests at the dinner, which preceded the address, was much larger than the number of reservations. Nearly 200 persons heard the lecture. R. S. Powell, president of First National bank, presided.

WOULD DELAY BUILDING

Mr. Baldwin declared that building should be delayed until next fall at least and if possible it should be deferred until the spring of 1922 because of unstable conditions in the market of building material and labor. He said lumber prices have been completely readjusted and possibly would strengthen but other building costs still are high. Later in the evening he admitted, however, that the building possibly could be done as cheaply the coming spring as will be possible in another year.

The Babson Statistical organization's predictions are based on data compiled on 12 "barometric" subjects which, Mr. Baldwin said, provide a splendid indication of the trend of markets, prices and business conditions. He deplored the fact that lack of sufficient statistics make it a difficult task to forecast the future with great accuracy because there is an inadequate background of the past. Business is returning to normal but the process is slow, Mr. Baldwin said. It will take at least two years and possibly five before the process of readjustment is completed and normalcy is restored. He said also that it is the Babson belief that prices will never return to the 1913 level and ventured the suggestion that they probably will be about 15 per cent above pre-war prices.

MANY FAILURES IN 1922

The number of failures in 1921 was about 24 times as great as in the previous year, the speaker said, and predicted there will be a large number of failures, especially of smaller concerns in 1922. Many of these failures will come early in the year. The number of manufacturing concerns which failed in 1921 was 57 per cent greater than in 1920 while the number of merchants, traders and brokers who failed in 1921 was 140 per cent larger than the previous year, indicating that a majority of the failures was among distributors who were forced out of business by a competitive market. Failures in 1922 will be largely among merchants and traders, he said.

A decline in the price of real estate and in rents was predicted for the near future. The decline already is evident in the east and is spreading to the south and west. It will be most noticeable here late in the year, Mr. Baldwin said.

Mr. Baldwin gave as his reason for advising against building at this time that readjustments in building costs are soon to occur. He predicted lower freight rates on building materials and hinted at readjustment in labor costs. He strongly advised against extension of industrial plant facilities at this time.

RAILS IN BAD SHAPE

The greatest handicap to readjustment of transportation rates, Mr. Baldwin said, is the fact that railroads are regulated by two boards which have no relation to each other.

Claims Dandruff Causes Baldness

Says Parisian Sage Should Be Used at Once to Clean the Scalp

If you have dandruff you must get rid of it quick—it's positively dangerous and will surely make you lose your hair if you don't. Dandruff heads mean faded, brittle, scraggly hair that finally dies—new hair will not grow, then you are hairless and nothing can help you.

The sure way to abolish dandruff for good is to destroy the germ that causes it. To do this quickly, safely and most effectively, get at any drug store toilet counter a bottle of Parisian Sage. This is guaranteed to rid the scalp of all dandruff, stop its itching, check falling hair, and stimulate a new growth.

Parisian Sage is a scientific preparation that supplies hair needs—an antiseptic liquid, neither sticky or greasy, easy to use, and delightfully perfumed.

If you want soft, thick, lustrous hair, and lots of it, use Parisian Sage. Don't delay—begin tonight. A little care and attention now will insure abundant hair for years to come.

Schultz Bros. will supply you and guarantee money refunded if you are not entirely satisfied.

an increase of 50 per cent, meaning that about 60 per cent of the plant capacity will be used in 1922.

2. There will be an unusual readjustment of prices and costs during the year.

3. There will be considerable reorganization of industry with a tendency to remove much of the "deadwood" from administrative forces. Efficiency in management, he said, resulted in inefficiency in labor and production and there is much evidence of the tendency to eliminate administrative deceptitude.

AUTO PLANTS ENDANGERED
Industries which manufacture and handle necessities of life have the brightest outlook for the new year, the speaker said. He said these industries face the brightest future: Cotton and woolen goods, hosiery and knit goods, dairy products, paint and varnish, paper, printing and publishing, some kinds of tools, bakery goods and boots and shoes.

Automobile makers head the list of industries whose prospects for 1922 are anything but encouraging. Luxuries and semi-luxuries also face a dark future, he said. Much of the plant expansion following the war, was in industries manufacturing luxuries and they will have the greatest difficulty in the competitive market of 1922.

Mr. Baldwin said recent reports indicated that merchants are placing large orders with jobbers and that a good spring season business is expected. Stocks in stores probably will be materially increased, he said.

Mr. Baldwin declared that any saving effected by a naval holiday as a result of the disarmament conference will have but little effect because only a small portion of the total cost of war is represented by preparation for future war. It is impossible to save enough by ceasing war preparations, he said, to overcome the immense costs occasioned by wars that have passed. Probably the most important result of the conference is improvement in national confidence which may result in a better world understanding. He suggested that an international banking agreement may grow out of this conference and subsequent meetings and said that an agreement of this kind may be the basis or renewed business with Europe.

STOCKS GOING UP

The general tendency of the stock market from now on will be up, Mr. Baldwin predicted. The market now is in the period of accumulation and he advised investors to buy stocks in industries which are thoroughly readjusted and to hold them for a rising market. He was unable to say when the rise would occur, however. The bond market probably has reached its lowest point but bonds, especially

Much Too Cold Here For Hens To Speed Laying

In spite of a big drop in the price of eggs in the Chicago market, Appleton grocers are still paying high prices for fresh eggs. W. C. Fish said Thursday in explaining the difference between the Chicago and the home market.

Due to warm weather in Illinois, there is a large production of eggs and the supply is greater than the demand. Here it is much colder and the hens are not laying. As a consequence the supply of fresh eggs is short and dealers are outbidding each other to fill the needs of their trade. Supply and demand, he said, controls the local egg market and it is not affected by Chicago prices.

Long term paper, are a good investment. The purchasing power of the dollar is increasing and money invested now will be worth more in purchasing value a few years hence than it is at this time.

The three most important developments to watch in 1922, Mr. Baldwin said, are these:

- 1.—The disarmament conference.
- 2.—Work of the war finance corporation.
- 3.—Railroad legislation.

There is nothing which will bring about an immediate restoration of good business, Mr. Baldwin said. Readjustment is bound to be slow and unequal and it must be complete so that business can be built up on a solid foundation.

NEXT YEAR'S FAIR AT HORTONVILLE TO BE BEST EVER

President Schultz Points Out
Need of Cooperation With Appleton

Plans to make next year's Hortonville fair county-wide were discussed Thursday at the annual meeting of the Outagamie County Agricultural association in the village hall at Hortonville. About 20 members were in attendance.

Reports of the officers occupied the forenoon session. The treasurer's report showed that the association cleared $940 at last year's fair and this elicited much favorable comment. Henry M. Culbertson spoke on the progress the association has made and the work it is accomplishing.

Charles Schultz was reelected president of the association. Other officers elected were Henry Gallow, vice president; G. A. Carroll, secretary; M. S. Schwartz, treasurer; Stephen Melton of Appleton, William Voss, William Miller of Hortonville and John Breitrich of Appleton, trustees.

Mr. Schultz spoke on the necessity for the cooperation of Hortonville and Appleton in making the fair a success. He expressed satisfaction at the help and support Appleton gave the fair last year. He urged the active cooperation of all members of the association in putting the organization on its feet and to liquidate a debt of $1,100 which remains on the books.

FAMOUS PIANIST COMING

Noted Polish pianist will appear in concert in Lawrence Memorial Chapel Tuesday evening under auspices of Appleton Community Artist and Lecture series.

You Are A Good Cook If You Can Bake Good Pie

A friend said to the contest editor of the Post-Crescent yesterday: "Almost every woman bakes cakes, but only a few really good cakes have mastered the art of pie baking. You probably will not receive as many pie recipes as you did cakes."

But the contest editor was confident of the number of splendid pastry cooks in Appleton who will submit their recipes for the next $1 prize. Pie week began at noon on Thursday and will continue until noon on Thursday, Jan. 19. Perhaps the peculiar division of the weeks needs an explanation. By closing the contest Thursday noon, all recipes may be put in order to send to the judge by Thursday evening. The decision may be made by them in time for publication in Monday's paper along with ten or a dozen other recipes.

The cooperation of the Appleton housewives was splendid in the first week of the cooking contest, and those who did not send in their cake recipes still have a chance to take part in all the remaining weeks. If you have suggestions of kinds of foods which you would like to have included in the contest, write your suggestions on a separate sheet and mail it to the contest editor when you are sending in that never fail pumpkin pie, that delicious lemon meringue or that satisfying mince pie.

Send it at once to the contest editor. The cake winner will be announced on Monday when a dozen or more recipes will be printed in the Post-Crescent.

BIG EATERS GET KIDNEY TROUBLE

Take Salts At First Sign of Bladder Irritation or Back-ache

The American men and women must guard constantly against kidney trouble, because we eat too much and all our food is rich. Our blood is filled with uric acid which the kidneys strive to filter out, they weaken from overwork, become sluggish, the eliminative tissues clog and the result is kidney trouble, bladder weakness and a general decline in health.

When your kidneys feel like lumps of lead, your back hurts or the urine is cloudy, full of sediment or you are obliged to seek relief two or three times during the night, if you suffer with sick headache or dizzy, nervous spells, acid stomach, or you have rheumatism when the weather is bad, get from your pharmacist about four ounces of Jad Salts, take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast for a few days and your kidneys will then act fine. This famous salt is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia, and has been used for generations to flush and stimulate clogged kidneys, to neutralize the acids in the urine so it no longer is a source of irritation, thus ending bladder disorders.

Jad Salts is inexpensive; cannot injure, makes a delightful effervescent lithia-water beverage, and belongs in every home, because nobody can make a mistake by having a good kidney flushing any time.

Facts you should know when you buy a car

The question of greatest importance is not what you will be allowed for your old car but the price you pay for the new car and the value received.

You are money out if allowed $100 more for your old car, yet have to pay a $150 higher list price for a new car when the comparative value is not there.

A purchaser's loss is only postponed when trading allowances are made above a used car's real value. The deal that may appear most satisfactory to you in the beginning may prove to be the most expensive in the end.

No one receives anything gratuitously in this world — don't be misled by false allowances.

We believe that any sales policy which encourages the giving of fictitious values for used cars is an injustice to the public. We wish to establish definitely the fact that the Buick Motor Company has never followed this policy — rather has always based the price of its product upon actual costs and when costs come down correspondingly reduced the prices of its cars to the public without any camouflage whatsoever.

HAPPY WHEN HER PRAYERS OF 100 YEARS ARE NEEDED

Mrs. Mary Vermett, 110, Has Prayed Daily for Irish Freedom

By Roy Gibbons
Greenwood, Ill. — Every night for a century Mrs. Mary Vermett, 110, the world's oldest Irish patriot, has prayed that Ireland might be free.

And today—
With the Anglo-Irish treaty ratified for both nations—
With the Sinn Féin leaders setting up a truly Irish government—
With Ulster hinting it will seek admittance to the new Irish free state—
Mrs. Vermett is convinced that Erin's good fortune is God's answer to her century of prayer.

"Sure, it's proof there's a God in heaven," she says.

"Through all these years I've been praying. I've known that God would bide His time and do His justice."

Mrs. Vermett was born on Christ mas day, 1811, near Cork. In 1840 she was married. With her husband she crossed the Atlantic in a sailboat and traveled across the American continent in an ox cart. The couple settled in this isolated spot in Illinois.

Despite her extreme age, Mrs. Vermett's mind is clear and keen. She follows daily the cable dispatches of the progress of the Irish situation.

When the correspondent reached Mrs. Vermett's home, a celebration in honor of Irish independence was being held.

Mrs. Vermett's sons, Frank, 78, and Richard, 76, were present, together with a score of grandchildren.

The old patriot herself was seated at the table littered with newspapers. "Ireland free," she murmured over and over, clutching the paper to her breast.

"I've lived longer than most people—just because I've been asking God to spare me till I could see the day of peace in Cork and the blessed land of green."

"Just today I was a thinking of the tragic days when I was a girl when soldiers were shooting down my kinsmen and neighbors just because they wanted to be free."

"Sure, there's much credit due to the Sinn Féin. They did right in accepting dominion rule."

"For, mark my word, that'll be the stepping stone. Real independence is not far off now and they'll get it without bloodshed."

"My wall of 100 years has taught me one thing—patience."

"That's all Erin needs have now. And the Irish will have it."

"It'll be a patience supplied by the Lord. For I'm sure in His mind and will Ireland is destined to be a land like the American."

"The people God has answered this old woman's prayers and, sure, He'll do the same for them."

INFANT EARL FIGHTS FOR ESTATE

THE INFANT EARL OF SHREWSBURY (LEFT) AND MRS. ELEANOR BROWNLEE

By Milton Bronner
London — Mrs. Eleanor White Hughes Brownlee, whose spectacular gains on British race tracks have made her name well known in society here, will be the central figure in the most spectacular will contest of recent years.

The contest involves the $3,000,000 estate of the late Earl of Shrewsbury, the bulk of which was left to Mrs. Brownlee. The contestant is the infant Earl of Shrewsbury.

Mrs. Brownlee came to England from the Argentine. She began immediately to make large sums by clever race track plays.

Her most spectacular success was the purchase of a horse called Shoemaker. The horse was lame. Her friends ridiculed the purchase.

But Shoemaker's lameness healed and he won his mistress $25,000. Mrs. Brownlee's fondness for horse racing led to her acquaintance with the Earl of Shrewsbury.

The Earl of Shrewsbury. When the earl died he left her his whole estate save a few small bequests.

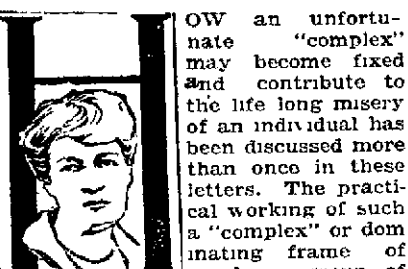

The infant earl, in his contest, declares the old earl was incapable of managing his affairs and that Mrs. Brownlee took advantage of his mental state.

Mrs. Brownlee denies all this. Meanwhile the executor of the will is pressing to have it probated.

LETTERS TO LOVERS

The Fear Of Gossip

By Winona Wilcox

HOW an unfortunate "complex" may become fixed and contribute to the life long misery of an individual has been discussed more than once in these letters. The practical working of such a "complex" or dominating frame of mind, or group of ruling ideas is to be found in this letter from a young wife.

"To understand my quandary, I must give you some facts about my life. When I was thirteen, my mother ran away, leaving my father with a small family. Soon he died and I continued to be a little mother to the children until relatives broke up the family."

"Then I was sent to my mother who was living as the common law wife of the man she had eloped with."

"She treated me terrible. I went to work, she took the money, and bought intoxicants while I starved."

"Finally I married an old man at her order. I hoped he would help me to provide for my little sister and brother. He made me that promise before the wedding."

"Four months later, I discovered that he was already a married man."

"At once I took a train to a distant city. I supported myself, and lived upright according to my nature."

"Well, in consequence, a good man wooed me and now I have a wonderful husband for whom I would lay down my life."

"Before I married, I tried to tell him of my past history but he would not listen. Only the future concerned us, he said."

"But my own aunt has told some body and in the way had news always carries, it reached my husband's relatives. Now they are making all kinds of trouble for me. They say that unless my husband leaves me, they will have nothing to do with him."

"Have I no right to a little bit of love? I never had any happiness until now. I am devoted to my husband. I want to be happy with him but his people, all good folks, never will let me."

"Must I leave him—for his good?"

Evidently the early influences which made this girl so wretched, have deprived her of her power to improve her present chances of gladness.

She is cursed by "an inferiority complex" which became fixed in her childhood. And this association of ideas will run her life unless she recognizes the evil and uproots it.

She must learn to value herself, she must learn to trust herself. She must claim, not beg, for her rights.

By staying with her husband and doing her best to insure his comfort and success, she will prove her own wisdom.

"What I must do is all that concerns me, not what the people think."

Unless she stops fussing and fretting about what somebody may be saying about her past—for which she was not responsible—she may weary her good husband and lose the opportunity of being happy which a kind fate seems to be offering her as a recompense for past sorrow.

No Chance For United Verdict By New Juries

Chicago. — Now comes Chancellor Jean J. Tobias, head of a law school and lecturer on medical physiological psychology, with the idea that—

The law must be changed to permit a majority verdict, instead of a unit verdict, in cases where women serve as jurors.

And this idea is the result, as Tobias explains, of his having "discovered" women, following a long period of "character research."

TOO EMOTIONAL.
"The advent of woman as a juror has killed the unit jury verdict," says he. "The woman juror is too emotional or else finickily analytical."

"Two such types of femininity sitting in deliberation never can agree."

In the future, good lawyers will take courses in feminine psychology to win law suits. They will procure a picture of the women on the jury, study the types and then hand out what the women want—romance, acting, pathos or what not.

"There's something that will appeal to every woman. She is going to be the weakness of the law because her face will reveal her character. She hasn't learned how to mask her emotions yet."

SHE'S X PLUS
"As a matter of fact, woman equals X, plus the shape of her nose, the fullness of her lips or perhaps the curve and length of her jaw."

Tobias puts women generally in two classes—temperamental or analytical.

He includes the sub-debutants with rolled socks, short skirts and ex tremisms in the first class, and the thinking group, the heavy readers in the second.

Mr. and Mrs. A. R. Freiberg returned from their wedding trip Wednesday evening.

Adventures of the Twins

Olive Eberle Barton

A Queer Happening
It was Nancy who discovered that queer things were happening to Flatty Flounder and she called Nick to see. The tired little flounder boy hadn't been just talking when he said that he had to go to sleep in order to grow up.

The Twins watched Flatty curious ly, and this is what they saw. First of all one of the little fish boy's white sides, not the one he was lying on, but the upper one, began to change color. First it got gray, then it changed to a greeny brown and last quite slowly to a dark brown.

"I wonder if his underneath side is getting brown, too," said Nancy. "If it isn't, he'll be top sided."

Flatty was too sound sleep by this time to her word she said. "Just wait and see," said a sober But Nick peeped. He lifted up a little flap of Flatty's thin body.

"No," he said in surprise. "Flat ty's still white underneath. When he wakes up and tries to swim, he'll be brown on one side and white on the other!"

"Just wait and see," said a sober voice nearby. "You've something to learn about flounders." It was Granddaddy Jellyfish just swimming away.

Next the Twins noticed Flatty's fins. They were changing shape. Instead of the top and bottom fin, they were now both sides fins, and matched exactly.

But the most amazing thing of all happened then. Flatty's underneath eye began to travel. It traveled round on top of him and settled down right beside the other eye at one corner of his mouth, and there it stayed. Suddenly both eyes opened. "Now I'm grown," he announced. "My underneath side has become my tummy and my upper side is my back. Now I'll go away Nick, you may take down the 'de-tou' sign."

Polly and Paul--and Paris

Chapter 10—Tug of War

BY ZOE BECKLEY

Where was Paul? If Paul would only come and explain things and assure her that the stopping of the ship meant nothing more than a minor repair of some sort—or—Polly didn't know couldn't think—

Then she saw him, coming round the corner, forward. As he hurried toward her, Violet Rand, whose place was nearest him, and who had risen in excitement from her chair, either flung herself or was flung by the lurch of the ship almost into his arms.

Paul put out a hand. She clung to it.

"Oh, Mr. Dawson, what is it—what has happened?"

"Nothing serious, I think. I haven't heard but—"

"I told her it couldn't be anything serious." The words burst from Polly involuntarily born of her nervousness and chagrin.

"Don't be silly," Violet retorted. "I've crossed eleven times and I never knew a boat to stop this way without good reason."

"I'll go and see." And Paul started to move away.

"Oh, don't go! Take me with you then! The Captain'll tell us I must know. I'm horribly nervous. Please—"

"Paul," Polly's voice came in a low and dangerous tone from the chair out of which she had not moved.

"Yes, dear?"

"Surely you are not going. Won't you come and sit here—please Paul. It can do no good to bother the Captain. Nobody is in a panic—except Miss Rand. The passengers all realize that if danger threatened there would be warnings."

"Yes—but it wouldn't hurt to make inquiries."

"Of course—of course—Oh, do let's go, Mr. Dawson!"

"It would only take a moment or two, Polly, darling."

Polly closed her lips tightly, drew in a sharp breath through dilated nostrils, and looked away.

Paul came to her, while Violet hands clasped imploringly, urged him with her eyes to hurry.

"Listen, dearest. If anything's wrong, I want to know it. If not, there's nothing to worry about and I'll return at once and tell you why the thing stopped. What's sensible, isn't it? Ah—here's Mr. Crenshaw."

Paul halted at that, quiet man walking slowly down the deck. "I say, friend, come stay a minute with my little wife here, while I trot off to see what's happened—don't know, do you?"

The man shook his head. "Wish I did," he answered, dropping into the vacant chair beside Polly. "But I'd rather stop and chat with Mrs. Dawson than fuss around in the crowd."

Paul hurried off, and Polly closed her eyes so as not to see Violet Rand clinging to his arm.

Crenshaw was the man with the kind smile and the prematurely gray hair who sat next to her at the table. She liked him. He gave out a gentle friendliness unobtrusive but definite, and had a restful way of keeping still when you didn't want to talk, and of saying the right thing when you did.

If Polly had followed her impulse, she would put her head down on his tweed coated shoulder and sobbed. Instead she sat for another moment or two with shut eyes, trying to command her frayed nerve forces into a placidity.

"How sensible you are, Little Lady, not to go squawking about like—like these people who think it is the mark of the experienced traveler to see disaster in every unusual happening."

"Then you don't think it's anything dreadful?"

"I think lots of things look disquieting on the surface that have perfectly commonplace explanations."

If Crenshaw had any fears, he gave no sign, and in his answer Polly somehow found comfort.

Still—why didn't Paul and Violet Rand come back?

The same rifle shots that brought had dreams to Bill had a much more head meaning for Joe Robinson and Pete the Breed, the two Indians that were occupying Harold's cabin. "Four shots," Pete said at last, "Lounsbury's signal!" "That means—big doms," Joe pronounced gravely. "We go!" Then they put on their snowshoes and rushed away.

There was no nervous waiting at the appointed meeting place—a spring a half mile from Bill's cabin. Harold Lounsbury was already there. A stranger to this land might have thought that Harold was drunk. Unfamiliar little frown lines creased his forehead in his eyes, his features were drawn.

The breeds waited patiently for him to speak. "Where's Sindy?" he asked at last. "Over Buckshot took her," "Over Buckshot, Dan?"—just where you said—"Joe asked. "Of course Buckshot took her back!" The Indians nodded. "Well, I'm going to let him keep her. I've got a white squaw now—and soon I'm going out with her to the Out side. But there's things to do first. Bill has found the mine."

The others nodded gravely. "And Bill is as blind as a mole—got caught in a cabin full of green wood smoke. He'll be able to see again in a day or two. So I sent for you right away."

The breeds nodded again, a trifle less philosophically. "The mine's worth millions—more money than you can dream of. Each of you get a sixth—one third divided between you. As soon as we've finished what I've planned, we'll turn down his claim notices and put up our own, then go down to the road and record the claim," Harold went on. "Then it's ours. No one will ever guess. No one'll make any trouble."

"Both of you are to come to the cabin, just about dark. You'll tell me you have been over Bald Peak and are hitting back toward the Yuga village."

Bringing along a quart of booze—maybe two quarts would be better. And sometime in the early evening give Bill what's coming to him."

Do him off—Joe asked stolidly. "Make it look like a fight," Harold went on. "Insult him a better still, get in a quarrel among yourselves. Hell tell you to shut up, and one of you flame up at him. Then strike the life out of him before he knows what he's about. He's blind and he can't fight."

"What you want us to use?" Pete asked. "This?" He indicated the thin blade at his thigh. "Maybe use rifle?"

Harold's eyes looked drowsy when he answered. Something like a just swept over him this question of Pete's moved him in dark and evil ways. His father's blood was in the full ascendance at last.

"There's an old pick in the cabin—Bill had it prospecting," he said.

XXIII
Bill's eyes were considerably better when he awakened. Full in the light. The warm wet cloth had taken part of the inflammation out of them and when he strained to open the lids, he was aware of a little dim gleam of light.

He couldn't make out objects how ever, and expect for a fleeting shaft down he could not discern the floor that he swept before his face. Several days, and perhaps weeks would pass before the full strength of his sight returned.

His greatest hope at present was that he could grope his way about the cabin and build a fire for Virginia.

Building the fire however, was a grievous task. He felt it incumbent upon him to move with utmost caution so that Virginia would not waken. By groping about the walls he encountered the stove.

Feeling told him that the hot coals were still glowing in the ashes. Then he tumbled about the floor for such fuel as Harold had provided.

He found a piece at last, and soon a cherry crackle told him that it had ignited. He grinned with delight. But his joy was a trifle premature. At that instant he tripped over a piece of firewood and his hands crashed against the logs.

"Oh, blast my clumsy nose!" he whispered. Virginia stirred behind her curtain.

"Is that you Harold?" she asked. She was wide awake.

"No, it's Bill!" "Well, what are you doing up?" Did Harold—do you mean to say you built the fire yourself?"

"That's me lad—" "Then you must have your sight again—" The girl stretched aside the curtain and peered into his face. "No such luck. Coals were still glowing all I did to do was to put in a piece of firewood. But I'm all well otherwise—as far as I can tell. How about you?"

The girl stretched up her arms. "A little stuff—and now—I want you to tell me just how this blindness of yours—is going to affect our getting out."

SAYS HENRY FORD ALSO WAS SPENDER

Townsend Denounces Foes of Newberry in Opening of Defense Campaign

By United Press Leased Wire
Washington—Having the way for Truman H. Newberry's personal defense to the senate of his campaign for senator in Michigan in 1918, his colleague, Senator Townsend Saturday in a speech to the senate assailed Newberry's foes, who he said had ignored the facts in the case and given themselves over entirely to a spirit of animosity and hatred.

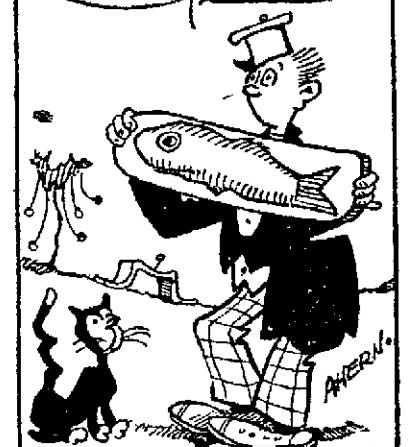

I have not supposed it was impossible for the spirits of animosity and hatred to go so far as they have in the remarks of some senators during debate on this matter," said Townsend. "Senators should deal with facts."

He then drew a contrast between Newberry and Henry Ford. His opponent in both the primary and general elections in Michigan in 1918, Ford he said, was considered by many citizens of Michigan to be disloyal because of his attitude towards the war. There was no doubt he was a pacifist, Townsend said. He spent large sums advertising his pacifism, and Townsend added "spent thousands—nobody knows how much—in the campaign of 1918 urging reelection of President Wilson because he kept us out of war."

TRUCK BLOCKADED MACKVILLE ROAD

A large Oshkosh truck driven by Albert Gust of Oshkosh and returning from Cecil to Oshkosh was stalled several hours in deep snow at Battery's corner between Black Creek and Mackville Wednesday.

In an attempt to get his machine through, the driver dug trenches in the snow so the wheels could gain traction. Farmers in the vicinity were reported to be indignant at the condition in which the road has been left and declare the road is a dangerous condition for horses to travel, especially at night.

Frank Letts, rural mail carrier, declared he was delayed a long time as the truck occurred the beaten road and he was unable to pass it on account of deep snow.

WANT BANK BANDIT FOR STEALING CAR

Lawrence Lesperance, Now in Prison, May Be Connected With Other Crimes

After he is released from state prison, Lawrence Lesperance, convicted last fall of complicity in the Wabeno bank robbery, must stand trial on a charge of stealing an automobile last July from Henry Balthazor of Fond du Lac. A warrant on this charge has been sworn out by Edward P. Cunningham, detective for Chicago and the Northwestern railroad. At one time last summer Lesperance was brought to Appleton suspected of complicity in the robbery of the Outagamie County State bank, here but was released when police were satisfied he was not involved.

Balthazor's car was stolen in Fond du Lac after midnight, Wednesday morning. July 13 and the Wabeno bank was robbed Friday July 15. On July 14, the Rev. P. C. Forseth of New Era, Mich., was robbed not far from Waukegan by two men he picked up on the road near Oshkosh. While being held in jail at Crandon, the Wabeno robbers boasted that they committed the Forseth robbery but officers believe this was only intended to lead them away from the truth as they cannot understand why the men should have abandoned the stolen automobile for a short time to commit the robbery. They also point out that Waukegan is far out of the route the men were traveling. Besides, the Forseth car was abandoned on the night of July 14 and it seems unlikely that the men could have covered the distance to Wabeno in time to participate in the robbery there, officials say.

Nevertheless, Mr. Cunningham believes he can connect the Lesperance gang with the Forseth robbery. Lesperance is now serving a one-year sentence at Waupun.

WOULD RAISE $50,000 IN STATE FOR Y. M. C. A.

George F. Werner, general secretary of the Y. M. C. A., has returned from Milwaukee where he conferred with F. C. Sombstock, president of the Milwaukee Y. M. C. A. and state chairman of the Y. M. C. A. retirement fund. Plans were formulated to raise the quota set aside for the state of Wisconsin by a "still hunt." Of the total $4,000,000 to be raised throughout the United States and Canada more than $2,000,000 has been pledged. $1,000,000 of which was given by the Rockefeller Foundation and $200,000 was raised among Y. M. C. A. secretaries.

Wisconsin's quota has been set at $50,000. Each city and county association will be asked to accept its quota by the board of directors of the different state Y. M. C. A.'s.

NEED $4 MORE TO REACH COUNTY GOAL

Total of $996 Has Been Raised in County, Outside Appleton for Red Cross

Only four dollars more and Hugh G. Corbett, chairman of the 1922 Red Cross roll call in Outagamie-co. will have reached the goal which he set for the county when the campaign opened Nov. 11.

Mr. Corbett set the goal at $1,000 for the county. With receipts of $17.50 from G. J. Janson of Vandenberg, a total of $996 has been received from the county outside of Appleton. The total amount received for city and county is now $3,351.10. Of this amount, $1,784.60 is retained by the chapter, $105 is refunded to the various Red Cross branches and $1,191.50 is sent to national Red Cross headquarters.

Vandenberg's report leaves only three divisions in the county which have not contributed. These are the town of Kaukauna, Freedom and Little Chute. Mr. Corbett is hoping that four dollars more can be raised either by donation from someone in the county or by signing four new members. This would put the county over the top.

DISCUSS CHILDREN AT CLUB MEETING

The meeting of the Civics department of Appleton Women's club was one of inestimable educational value according to the verdict of the members who were present. Delinquent and delinquent children were taken up for discussion in several phases. The work with defective children in Appleton was discussed, the care which is given them by the state was taken up and several speakers told of the state institutions. The effect of physical defects on children and their work in school was also discussed.

It is the consensus of opinion among the members of the department that Appleton women could learn a great deal about their city and even their families and children if they would attend the department's meetings regularly. The meetings are held twice a month in the vocational school and all Appleton women are invited to attend.

Plan Public Program
The Speech Arts club of Lawrence college will put on a public program on Feb. 8. The program will include one act plays, sketches and novelties to be prepared by members of the club.

ONEIDA FARMERS WILL PLANT CERTIFIED SEED

One hundred farmers met at Metoxon's hall in Oneida recently and decided that in the 300 acres which they plant in potatoes next year they will use only certified seed.

N. J. Kavanaugh, Brown county agricultural agent, advised the farmers to buy their certified seed at home if necessary or in nearby counties. It is estimated that at least 3,600 bushels of certified seed will be needed in Oneida next year.

Mr. Kavanaugh told the farmers that planting certified seed would increase their production 50 bushels to the acre and would make better flavored potatoes for table use. The Oneida State bank is furnishing the money to farmers for the purchase of certified seed.

Joseph Lohman of the Wisconsin Veterans home, Waupaca, visited with friends and relatives in Appleton, Wednesday.

KIMBERLY MILL SETS NEW WORLD SAFETY RECORD

Big Plant is Operated 74 Consecutive Days Without an Accident

In a safety contest which began Oct. 15 and ended Jan. 1, the Kimberly mill of the Kimberly-Clark company established what is probably a world record by making a 74 day run without a single lost time accident. The mill was given a safety pennant which was raised on the flag pole of the mill at 12.30 Tuesday noon. F. S. Shattuck addressed the men at that time on their fine safety spirit.

The contest was held by the Kimberly-Clark company between the Kimberly and Niagara mills. During the 74 day period, the Niagara mill had two lost time accidents and it employs a considerably smaller number of workers. The Kimberly mill continued its no accident run until Tuesday of this week, adding another 10 days to its record.

These Flapper Letters Were Too Good To Throw Into The Waste Basket

Three Writers Offer Splendid Advice to Young Women Who See Many Undesirable Things in the Young Men of the Present Day

The announcement that opinions on the conduct of young men and young women would no longer be received by the contest editor did not stop the flow of letters, several of which are too good to find their place in the waste basket. Others also had some merit but it was obviously impossible to continue these letters after an announcement had been made that the series was finished.

Just a summary of the letters which do not appear below will finally close the publishing of letters on the modern young man and young woman problem. In the words of the barn stonning comedian: "This is positively our last appearance in your fair city." One soldier suggests that the girls were not fair to their soldier sweethearts when they "went stepping" with other fellows during the war. He also takes a whack at the Christian who runs down his fellow men.

SOME EXCEPTIONS
Another man agrees heartily with the University Coed in her condemnation of the college man, but admits that there are many exceptions. He points out that many of the college men show little respect for authority or the feelings of others. A girl is quite concerned for fear people will think all girls wear arties to show off rather than for real comfort. A university student suggests as the remedy for conditions that the young women make lists of their qualifications for their ideal mates and have them published.

An evidently sincere letter from a widower cautions young people of today against the possibility of holding love lightly. He says that love is the biggest thing which makes for happiness and it will make allowances for many short comings. His own wife was taken from him by death after they had had six wonderful years of married life. His rather lengthy epistle tells of the value of a marriage for love, and his plea to young people to cherish this gift of God is worth remembering.

These letters are the last which will be published in the series. A man writes: "Dear Sir—I have been following your 'Flapper Contest' with a great deal of interest and I feel impelled to add my contribution to the good of the cause."

"We find that one interesting phase of human nature is the tendency to damn most readily in others the things for which we are primarily responsible ourselves. When you seldom marry them and you would not be happy if you did. It seems to me that a girl who enjoys doing all the fashionable things would find a man who did not do them a terrible bore.

"Marry for love's sake, live a good life and your modern husband will keep step."

And last, but not least: "Dear Editor—I am not an educated man but I feel that I have a message which is of value and I'd like to say a word about these flappers. It's all very well for these girls to rip the men up the back, but what I want to know is where they get that stuff? Nowadays there isn't any incentive for a man to live decently because when he asks a girl to marry him, she gets a dreamy light in her eyes and informs him: 'No, the man I marry will have to be a man of the world, one who has lived and seen something of the world.' Well, if that's what she wants, she's getting it."

"She never stops to think of the far reaching consequences of having 'lived and seen something of the world,' until it is too late or maybe she doesn't know. If so, it is pretty costly ignorance. This maybe accounts for the way four flushers get by so big with the women."

"It's the four flushers who tell the girls they like a woman who can smoke and fuss and all the rest of it and a lot of them believe it and go and do it, and then turn around and say the men make them what they are. It isn't the men. No real man likes that in a woman."

"When a man falls in love he

FOND DU LAC AD MEN ARE ORGANIZING CLUB

An advertising club similar to the one in Appleton is being organized in Fond du Lac to include all persons interested in advertising that city. The club is being organized with the help of the local advertising club which has conferred with the Fond du Lac men as to the best means of organization. The present plan is to have the Fond du Lac club cooperate with other clubs in the Fox river valley, three of which have been organized recently, and form a state association of clubs.

Bank Director
John I. Boggs of Milwaukee, president of the Wisconsin Traction Light Heat and Power company of Appleton, was reelected a member of the board of directors of the First Wisconsin National bank, the First Wisconsin Trust company and the First Wisconsin company, at the annual meeting of the stockholders of the three Milwaukee organizations Tuesday.

Idolizes the woman and thinks she a saint. The awfullest thing that can possibly happen to him is to find out that she isn't one.

"Keep that in mind girls and if you're looking for a real man try to be the kind of woman a real man wants, not the kind a bum is looking for."

THERE are certain recognized limits in cooking of meat for small families. It is almost out of the question to get a choice roast of less than four pounds, although a nice pot roast can be made from a pound of good meat if it is rightly cooked in a small close covered kettle. If you buy good meat, less time is needed in the kitchen to cook this in the proper manner so that it will be savory and tender.

LAWRENCE WHIPS MILTON IN OPENING CAGE GAME

BLUE AND WHITE
WINS, 32 TO 30
IN HARD BATTLE

Strong Comeback in Second Period Gives Lead to McClesney Quint

Lawrence college basketballers got off on a good start Thursday evening at Alexander gymnasium by defeating Milton college in a sharp battle, 32 to 30. The local collection played a listless game the first period and did not have their defense in working order until the final period when they clearly outclassed and outplayed the Miltonites.

Kaukus, Milton captain, was the outstanding light for the visitors. He had a way of breaking up plays and then dribbling the length of the floor for a marker and playing an individual game. Ziebell and R. Collinge, both yearlings, played great games for the locals, scoring two baskets and two free throws and four players made three free throws respectively. Collinge, ting forward, was all over the floor and in every play. He showed exceptional ability on long shots. Big Sam Sorenson also did good work.

With the score 11 to 11 in the last few minutes of the first period, Lamphero of the Cardinal clad five slopped in a ringer making the final count for the initial period 13 to 11 with the locals on the short end.

Coming back strong in the final period, the Blue and White outplayed and outscored its opponents in every stage of the game, overcoming the Milton lead and scoring 16 points to the opponents 6 until the last 12 minutes of play when the Miltonites staged a comeback scoring five baskets. Kaukus's basket in the last few minutes of play left the score 30 to 32 at the final whistle.

The lineup: Lawrence—R. Collinge and Ziebell, forwards; Smith, center; Basing and Sorenson, guards.

Milton—Fillner and Kaukus, forwards; Savoyes, center; Oakley and Lamphero, guards.

Substitutions—Collins for Smith, Smith for Collins, Hill for Lamphero. Referee—A. C. Denney of Neenah.

FOND DU LAC IN AN EASY WIN OVER
APPLETON QUINT

Dame's New Team Outclassed by Strong Fountain City Squad

Fond du Lac trampled on George Dame's professional basketball team in a listless game, 41 to 22 at Armory G before one of the smallest crowds of the season Thursday evening. Appleton took the floor with only two of the old team in suits. The new material, taken from local semiprofessional outfits, was hardly up to the standard of the old teams. Appleton put up a pitiful defense in the first period and was unable to pierce the Cardinal line at any stage of the game. Thomas, former Milwaukee Bright Spot center, did not seem to be in control and was replaced in the second period by L. Loose, who shifted from forward to the pivot position. Van Ryzin went in at forward.

Fond du Lac was able to score at will in the first period and ran up a margin of 19 points before Appleton scored. Elliot and Shalberg, Edison products, were the feature men for the lake-and men, netting six counters apiece. Red Gerhardt followed with four markers. Kubitz retired from the game in the final period due to an injury and was replaced at forward by Ben Shemik.

The lineup: Appleton—Loose and Kubitz, forwards; Thomas, center; Kreimier and Waterpool, guards.

Fond du Lac—Elliot and Goldinski, forwards; Shalberg, center; Adams and Gerhardt, guards.

Substitutions—Van Ryzin for Loose, Shemik for Kubitz. Referee—Gerald Bushy.

SPORT VIEWS AND NEWS

One sport critic has filed serious charges against the Bright Spots and unless the Milwaukee basketball team's management can show a clean face, it is quite likely that the attendance figures will drop off considerably. The critic claims that the Spots shovled a pick up quintet on the floor last Sunday when substituting for the Ohio Buckeyes and that the five was not the supposed-to-be Chicago aggregation. Murder will out.

Oshkosh Normal is breaking into the limelight with a coking good squad of basketballers. The Savoyes City teachers have been turning wild this year and moving down all their opponents with regularity. The Normalites do not rest content with teams in their own class as they have jumped out and taken Ripon and Milton colleges into camp without much trouble. This Oshkosh aggregation sizes up about the equal of any in the state.

A new face will be soon on Marquette's football schedule this fall. The Milwaukee collegians having closed with Detroit university for a game in mid season. The Tiger town collegians have been coming to the front with a rush of the gridiron during the past few years and, if they live up to form, Marquette will have her hands full trying to mark up a victory. Detroit only lost one game last fall, W. J. beating 'em, 14 to 2.

Quinn Threatens Young's Record

By Billy Evans
Cy Young had pitched 23 years when he retired from the major leagues.

Young's career is a record for service as a ball player. It has never been seriously threatened.

A contender for the honors held by Young looms up in the person of Pitcher Jack Quinn of the Boston Red Sox.

Quinn, it will be remembered, figured in the recent deal between New York and Boston, which sent the Red Sox and brought pitchers Jones and Bush, as well as Shortstop Scott to New York.

When Quinn reports to the Red Sox next spring he will be starting on his 20th year of professional baseball. That would make him appear old in the point of years, yet he is only 35 years of age.

Quinn made his professional debut with Connellsville of the Pennsylvania State League in 1903. He remained with that team through the season of 1906.

The following year he was with Macon in the South Atlantic League. In 1908 he was with Richmond in the Virginia League.

That fall through the medium of the draft he was secured by the New York American League club.

As a big league Quinn met with varying success. He managed to stay in the big show until the fall of 1912, when he was sent to the Rochester club of the International League.

FEDERAL LEAGUE SIGNS HIM
His good showing in 1913 with Rochester, when he won 19 victories, caused him to be grabbed off by the Federal League in its quest for players.

He labored for two years at Baltimore in the outlaw organization.

Today's Sport Angle

Do they ever come back? Mlle. Suzanne Lenglen says it is possible in tennis, and she intends to prove it.

Mlle. Lenglen will be remembered as the tennis champion who came to this country and "thived."

The coming of the French start to the states was the most widely heralded tennis event in years.

Advance notices made American tennis enthusiasts believe that in Mlle. Lenglen they were to see the Babe Ruth of tennis.

Records and press agents made her stand out as the superwoman of the tennis world. Newspapers featured stories by her telling how it was possible to play tennis a little bit better than it had ever been played before.

Then came the match with the American champion, Molla Bjurstedt Mallory, and the big explosion. After a couple of games had been played, in which the French star was hopelessly outplayed, it not outclassed, she apparently became ill and was forced to default.

After several weeks of rest, Mlle. Lenglen went back to dear old France. Then came a break between the governing bodies of the tennis organizations in France and the United States. The aftermath of the affair was a statement by a French official to this effect:

"Mlle. Lenglen was unable to accept defeat. She simply quit cold."

The French star is unquestionably a great player, despite the fact that she has yet to show it on this side. She intends to enter the international tennis tournament at the Riviera in March, to get a line on her physical condition as well as play.

It is just possible Mlle. Lenglen was rather harshly handled because of the manner in which she defaulted to Mrs. Mallory. Her announced intention of coming back to this country for another meeting with Mrs. Mallory is therefore of interest.

If she makes good her intention, it will wipe out a lot of unkind things that have been printed about her quitting cold to Mrs. Mallory.

KNOX COLLEGE CAGERS
START EASTERN TRIP
Galesburg, Ill.—Knox college basketball team has left on an invasion of the east.

The schedule opens Jan. 16 at Williams town, Mass., with Williams college, followed by Dartmouth at Hanover, N. H., and Wesleyan at Middlebury, Conn. on the next two nights. They then meet Brown on Jan. 21, Yale on Jan. 24 and the Army Jan. 25.

This is the first extended trip by a western college quintet across the Alleghenies, it is said.

(Sam Barry, former Lawrence college student, is coaching the Knox college team.)

IOWA STAR TO REMAIN
IN SCHOOL NEXT YEAR
By United Press Leased Wire
Iowa City, Iowa—Aubrey Devine, all-American quarterback and captain of Iowa university's championship big ten football team, will coach freshman football at the University of Iowa the coming year, it has been announced by the athletic board.

He will also assist in basketball and track. Devine's appointment will enable him to continue his law course here.

GOLD FOOTBALLS FOR
LAWRENCE GRIDDERS
Gold footballs, emblematic of the Little Five gridiron championship were given to 21 members of the Lawrence football team on Thursday. The emblems are a gift from the college.

MAROON TRACK TEAM
WILL VISIT JAPAN
By United Press Leased Wire
Chicago—The track team of the University of Chicago will make a trip to Japan to meet university teams there during the summer, according to Prof. Harold Moulton of the athletic association.

The Maroons will not compete in the Penn relay games this year, it is said, because they failed to support the national intercollegiate outdoor meet here last June.

ROCKNE REFUSES JOB
AT NORTHWESTERN U.
By United Press Leased Wire
Chicago—Knute Rockne, Notre Dame football coach, has formally refused the offer made to him by Northwestern university.

Dana M. Evans, Northwestern athletic director, made this announcement Friday. He also stated that Charley Brickley, former Harvard star, is not being seriously considered as Purple football coach.

GRIFFITH DENIES PECK
WILL LEAD NATIONALS
Washington—Roger Peckinpah "positively will not be made manager of the Senators in 1922, Clark Griffith, president of the Washington club of the American league declared Tuesday night.

Peckinpah, former New York Yankee shortstop, became a member of the local team yesterday through the three-year deal between Washington, Philadelphia and Boston.

Selection of a manager for the club made necessary by the resignation of George McBride. It was intimated to night probably will be announced later.

GEORGES' RIGHT
SMASH PUT COOK
DOWN FOR COUNT

Frenchman Slow in Getting Started But Completely Outclasses Loser

London—For once the experts were right and Georges Carpentier retained the European heavyweight championship after stopping George Cook of Australia in the fourth round of their bout at Albert hall Thursday night.

Georges must have seen a vision of another fourth round, one he once fought in Jersey City last summer, for when the bell called the fighters to the ring for the fourth time last night, Carpentier was after his man like a tiger. He flashed about Cook with his magnificent foot work and found the opening he sought and delivered the right hand blow that felled him at the beginning of the Denesey fight last July. This time it did not fail and it only took one real right to put Cook down for the count. He was on one knee when counted out.

It was a slow fight—for a Carpentier fight. At the beginning Georges was unenthusiastic. He allowed Cook, who was clumsy and amateurish, to take the advantage in the infighting and took considerable punishment around the body. Georges was slow and the issue seemed to be in doubt. Carpentier's first flash of speed came in the third; the Frenchman displayed much of his former agility. His rights and lefts were missing but he was shooting them in with increased power, apparently warming up to finish off his man in the round in which Dempsey put him away six months ago.

The fourth round saw Cook go down for the count, before a right that shot home cleanly to his jaw. It was just as I had said. Georges won the minute he decided to uncock it. Cook, I should say, was a willing fighter, but an ignorant one.

GRIFFITH DENIES PECK
WILL LEAD NATIONALS

Washington—Roger Peckinpah "positively will not be made manager of the Senators in 1922, Clark Griffith, president of the Washington club of the American league declared Tuesday night.

Peckinpah, former New York Yankee shortstop, became a member of the local team yesterday through the three-year deal between Washington, Philadelphia and Boston.

Selection of a manager for the club made necessary by the resignation of George McBride. It was intimated to night probably will be announced later.

If the umpire calls a balk on the pitcher, only to have the pitcher disregard the ruling and deliver the ball to the batter, which he hits for a home run, what happens?

The moment the umpire calls a balk, play is automatically suspended, no action is possible.

The fact that the pitcher delivered the ball, and the batter hit it for a home run, does not enter into the discussion. It is all illegal.

The batter must hit over. All base runners on the bases at such a time are entitled to advance one base on the balk.
